

Printing from...

Other DTP software applications

We have experience of many more DTP software applications than we have been able to mention in this guide. If you are at all unsure how to go about getting the best results from the application that you are using, please do not hesitate to contact us. We will do our best to assist you.

We would not recommend the use of Microsoft applications to create print files as generally the resulting files prove to be unsuitable, although we do accept Word files for translation into other professional DTP applications.

If you have no other option than to use a Microsoft package from which to create PostScript or are printing PostScript from Microsoft Word, please use our recommended PPD which is available to download from our website.
